James P. Shinehouse appointed new member of AI Board of Directors

Jersey, 19 March 2009 – The Board of AI Airports International (AI) announces the appointment of James P. Shinehouse as a new non-executive member of the Board. Shinehouse has already received prior approval by the Jersey Financial Services Commission. The decision to invite Shinehouse as a new Board member has been made in order to strengthen the Board's corporate management, forensic accounting, and restructuring competences. Shinehouse is a Partner at Atlantic Financial Advisory Partners after recently completing a management buyout of Kroll Talbot Hughes, where he has been a Managing Director. Shinehouse has over 20 years of experience in handling complex corporate restructurings and workouts for international clients. He especially focuses on assisting troubled businesses with cross-border operations. In addition, he has conducted numerous complex forensic accounting investigations and managed more than 100 varied litigation projects. His more recent projects have included Le Meridien Hotels, Marconi, Swiss Air and he is currently the receiver for the US Department of Justice for the failed Bayou hedge fund in New York City.

Chairman of the Board of Directors Wolfgang Vilsmeier welcomes Shinehouse as a new Board member, adding that the funds will profit from his comprehensive experience in financial restructuring.
